WHEN WILL THE #DIWOKIEL19 TAKE PLACE?

The Digitale Woche Kiel 2019 will take place from 7-14 September 2019.

WHY IS THERE A FESTIVAL LIKE #DIWOKIEL?

Digitization in many areas of our lives affects us all. No paradigm shift in the last 100 years has so dramatically changed our coexistence, our professional or our entrepreneurial actions.

Day by day, we learn to live and work with the progressive digital transformation. But many questions remain: How will our daily lives change in the longer term through these new possibilities? What will our day-to-day working lives look like in the future? What do we need to be able to do, to find or keep a job in the digital working world? What are the visions of digital start-ups? What change processes are established and traditional businesses undergoing? How will we learn at school and in our lives in the future? How will democracy and political awareness change in a digital society? In order to find answers to these and other questions, #diwokiel was launched as a macrosocial project, 'by everyone for everyone', so that we can all jointly shape its contents, allowing everybody to share the benefits. Citizens, companies and institutions can experience digital transformation holistically and in practice during the Digitale Woche Kiel. #diwokiel provides a framework in which key players from business, politics and society can connect with each other.

WHAT ARE #DIWOKIEL'S GOALS?

The Digitale Woche Kiel pursues two primary objectives:

- To develop Kiel into a city in which digitization is holistically understood and actively co-determined by its citizens.
- To develop Kiel into a location where digital transformation is successfully implemented in all companies, thereby increasing its national and international appeal.

WHAT HAPPENS AT #DIWOKIEL?

Under the umbrella of the Digitale Woche Kiel, events offered by a variety of participants will be scheduled together and communicated jointly. In addition to presenting the latest digital technologies, the diverse participants from business, science, politics and society focus in particular on innovative event formats. From the digital classroom, to changing values in a digital society, right through to the use of robots in nursing care - the diverse topics in the 2017 premiere particularly encouraged interested citizens to join a one-week-long intense dialogue with the digital movers and shakers.

WHO CAN PRESENT EVENTS?

Again, everyone is welcome to participate in 2019. Companies, educational and scientific institutions, chambers, associations, organisations, as well as all groups and individuals are invited to use the Digitale Woche Kiel platform, and also to help shape it. If you have any questions about registering an event, please contact programm@digitalewochekiel.de at any time.
